

Lynchburg C. of C. Has Helped

Good Farmers Say
"V-C Fertilizers are Better"

In competitive tests, made without our knowledge, V-C Fertilizers have repeatedly produced higher yields of better quality tobacco.

The experience gained in mixing more than 35 million tons over a period of 40 years makes the difference between V-C and other brands. This 40 years of experience has taught us the importance of putting into each bag all the needed plant foods plus the necessary minerals with plenty of manure to make them non-acid forming. Leaf bringing the highest prices upon many tobacco markets was grown with V-C Tobacco Fertilizers, made with expert knowledge of the requirements of this exacting crop.

Look for the V-C oval on every bag. It identifies the fertilizers of proven worth.

comfort brought to sad hearts around the campfire by him. He was in Gen. J. E. B. Stuart's cavalry during the Civil War. He, with Bob Miller Sweeney, a cousin were the first minstrel team.

Famous Apple Tree Was Torn Down

History tells us that while Lee was waiting for a word from Grant to meet to arrange the Surrender, he laid down to rest under an apple tree not far from the Appomattox River.

As Lee left to effect the Surrender, T. O. Bickers of Louisa pulled off a twig from the tree and said, "I'm going to save this for a souvenir." Immediately the Confederate soldiers swarmed around the tree, and in a few moments it was torn down, or up, completely. Some even got an ax and they dug down after the roots of the tree. For many years afterwards the Rutland family kept the ax used to cut down the tree.

The location of this famous tree is marked by a metal historical sign along the present state highway. We wonder if somewhere some family of a Confederate veteran has't one of the actual pieces of the wood of that tree? If so it should certainly be in the historical collection to go together when the Restoration place. The death angel came home of W. T. Martin, Ave. Roanoke, and took his mother's last cat, got uncle Joel A. Woolridge home in foible bath for "a souvenir." Immediately the Confederate soldiers swarmed around the tree, and in a few moments it was torn down, or up, completely. WILL ATTRACT TOURISTS

Although not included in the park area in the Restoration plans at Appomattox, the site of the Joe Sweeney's across the state highway from it and will prove an extra attraction to tourists.

Mausoleum of H. D. Flood

One of the most interesting things at Appomattox for tourists to see at Appomattox, is the tomb of the late Hal D. Flood, Mr. Flood was one of the gifts of Virginia to the state legislature and in Congress where he became chairman of the foreign relations committee and as such in 1917 introduced the resolution declaring war on Germany. The tomb shown above is in the yard of the new court house.

STONEWALL

Since so many places here are associated with the War Between the States, one might infer that the community of STONEWALL got its name from "Stonewall" Jackson. However, such was not the case. On Stonewall Creek there was a natural row of rocks that formed a sort of dam. Someone capitalized this to turn a mill wheel and the name of "Stonewall" came from just that—a stone wall.

Willie: Lt. your car has been stolen.
Lucy: It couldn't be, I had it insured.

Thomas S. Bocock

Appomattox county furnished one of the principal figures in the government of the Confederacy. Hon. Thomas S. Bocock was the speaker of the Confederate Congress, and an illustrious citizen of this county.

He came from a foremost family of Virginia and lived at Wildway, near Verra.

He was a member of the state legislature of Virginia and a member of the United States Congress and when the war came on, he was named speaker of the Confederate Congress, an honor he had almost realized in the United States Congress before the war. He had also been commonwealth's attorney for Appomattox county.

Hannah: So you think I've have a good time at your party tonight?

Sisco: Sure, because just "QUI" gals will be there.

OWNED BY RAMSEY

The site on which stood the famous McLean House, in which the Surrender at Appomattox was signed, is now owned by Mr. W. H. Ramsey, of Ohio. The property includes some 21 acres.

A LONG RIDE

In 1850 the father of the late T. A. Walton, of Appomattox drove a wagon from here to Texas. The long journey took about 90 days.

SEVEN BROTHERS

Seven Gills brothers from Appomattox were in the War on the side of the Confederacy. None of them were killed.

WAS HOSPITAL

The present residence of F. A. O'Brien, county supervisor was used as a hospital during the fighting here on April 8 and 9. A cannon ball went through its walls before the Surrender.

Don't Prolong The Agony!

Next time you suffer from Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, a Cold, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains; That Tired Feeling, That "Morning After" Feeling. Get a glass of water and drop in one or two tablets of

Alka-Seltzer

The New Pain-Relieving, Alkalizing, Effervescent Tablet. Watch it bubble up, then drink it. You will be amazed at the almost instant relief. It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

Get a glass at your drug store soda fountain. Take home a 50 cent or 60 cent package.
